St John's
CHAMBERS

Ben Handy St John's Chambers

Ben acts for both claimants and defendants across all aspects of personal injury, including cases involving catastrophic injury. He has represented clients right up to the Court of Appeal. He now has a particular specialism representing insurers in claims involving allegations of fraud.

As part of Chambers' clinical negligence team, Ben has experience of a range of disputes, including cases involving complex issues of causation. He has acted for interested parties at inquests into deaths in the context of negligent medical care.

James Marwick St John's Chambers

James Marwick is a personal injury, insurance, clinical negligence and costs barrister with a nationwide practice acting for both claimants and defendants in the County Court and High Court.

His personal injury work has a particular focus on cases involving the construction industry and local authorities together with those cases where there is fraud or fundamental dishonesty alleged. James is frequently engaged to deal with matters with novel costs or procedural issues or those otherwise requiring technical expertise.

Jimmy Barber St John's Chambers

Jimmy joined St John's after practising in London for five years.

He has expertise in personal injury and clinical negligence litigation, as well as consumer aviation and travel law. He spent two terms as the judicial assistant to Sir John Thomas PQBD (as he then was) in the Court of Appeal.

James Hughes St John's Chambers

James is a specialist personal injury practitioner and has a developing clinical negligence practice. He has developed a strong following amongst solicitors for his courtroom advocacy. He is equally happy to draft pleadings and provide written advice. James can provide bespoke seminars on all personal injury topics and will happily work to tight deadlines. He accepts instructions on a CFA basis.

Robert Mills St John's Chambers

Robert specialises in clinical negligence and personal injury litigation. He regularly conducts fast-track and multi-track trials for both claimants and defendants. Robert has experience across the spectrum of personal injury litigation, including employer's liability, occupier's liability, Highways Act 1980, road traffic cases and credit hire. He regularly attends applications relating to issues such as pre-action disclosure, default judgment, amendments to statements of case and strike out.

Marcus Coates-Walker St John's Chambers

Marcus is a personal injury and clinical negligence barrister, with a very busy court and paper-based practice. He has experience of conducting fast-track and multi-track cases from inception across all aspects of personal injury and clinical negligence litigation. He maintains a good balance to his practice and represents both claimants and defendants.
